CICA - International Committee of Architectural Critics. CICA brings together critics, theorists and historians from all over the world. The members of CICA share the conviction that criticism and the theoretical discourse of architecture in general are integral parts of the architectural process. Consequently, CICA and its members see themselves as working towards a better architecture and better cities alongside the architects.

The logo consists of the letters 'CICA' in a bold, blue, sans-serif typeface. The 'C's are stylized with a thick stroke and a small gap at the bottom. The 'I' is a solid vertical bar. The 'A' is also bold and has a slight slant to its right side.
